Welcome to the Moore County Public Library's website. Our library is located in Lynchburg, Tennessee. We are a small close knit community that is very proud of our public library. We have public access computers, various programs, a wide variety of reading and listening materials, and a very friendly staff. So, let me take this opportunity to personally invite you to come and visit us here in Lynchburg; tour the distillery, get some home cooking and then come and relax here at the library. The library staff and I will be eager to meet you. You can't miss us we are located at the only red light in town.
